

CON-UAM200

USB-C Interface for Rear View Cameras

Intended use

The interface is designed exclusively for use with a supply voltage of 8~36Vdc.

The interface allows AXION cameras to be connected to Android tablets via USB-C. The interface supplies the camera with power and the camera image can be automatically displayed on the tablet via trigger input.

Camera monitor systems are purely a support for the driver, but do not relieve him of his obligation to take special care.
